The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Amended entry in the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(5) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 hereby amends the entry in the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Torrvald, farmstead 450m NW of Creagan Loisgte comprises the remains of a farmstead of medieval or later date, situated on the edge of a ridge, in mature forestry at about 110m OD.

The farmstead includes two ranges of buildings at right angles to each other. The largest structure, located near the centre of the site, has evidence of subdivision. The second structure is located at the southeast of the site. Both structures are rectangular on plan with walls between 0.5m and 1m high. Land immediately north and west of the structures is divided into two walled yards or enclosures. At the east of the site, the enclosure has been terraced and levelled, standing over 1m above the natural steeply sloped ridge. At the southwest of the site, a circular depression, up to 1.5m deep, may represent the remains of a feature such as a kiln, saw pit or midden hole. The settlement is first mentioned in documents in 1566 and was deserted and in ruins by 1815.

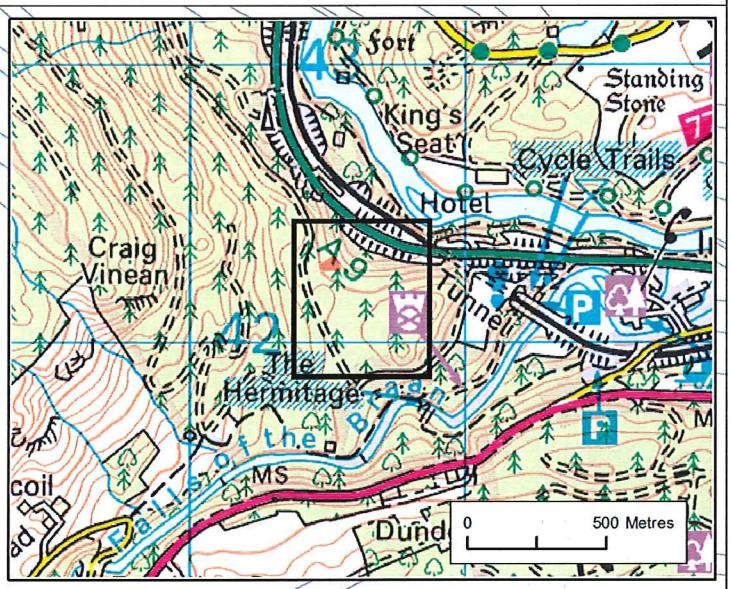

The scheduled area includes the farmstead and an area around the monument, in which traces of associated activity may be expected to survive.

The monument lies in the Parish of Little Dunkeld and the County of Perth, as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto.

This entry supersedes the entry in the schedule of monuments for the monument known then as Torrvald, farmstead 700m SW of Dunkeld House as referred to in the entry in the schedule of monuments by the Scottish Ministers in respect of the monument dated 16 February 2001 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Perth on 16 March 2001.
